

I collaborated with Taein Yi and Joshua Sundararaman on our homework. We exchanged ideas throughout the day, but we never let each other look at our papers. We only discussed what we thought was incorrect, if someone gave a weird induction, or if their postcondition wasn't working.